Discovering Croatia „Istria“

Istria County is the westernmost county of Croatia which includes the biggest part of the Istrian peninsula. It is the largest peninsula in the Adriatic Sea, formerly called Histria. Istria is combination of the natural beauties, rich history and cultural heritage. The Istrian peninsula was known to Romans as the “terra magica”

Central Istria is one of the rare Mediterranean regions adorned with the quality of unspoiled natural landscapes and rich heritage. Numerous coves and hillocks connect and divide many magic-like settlements, mediaeval towns creating almost unreal scenery.

Area's largest city is Pula situated at the southern tip of the Istrian peninsula, located in protected bay. Known for its mild climate and tame, beautiful sea, Pula also has a long tradition of winemaking, fishing and shipbuilding. If you visit Pula, you will hear whispers about a story of mythical Argonauts, Romans, Venetians, Franks and the time of the Austrian and Hungarian Empire when it was important war port. It is also home to many ancient Roman buildings, including the well-preserved, magnificent amphitheatre - ARENA one of the six largest Roman amphitheatres in the world.
